

Recommendation for Suzie (Leila) Choobak of Suzie's Angels:

My daughter, Julia, started going to Suzie's Angels since she was 10 months old (she is almost 2 years old now). I could not be happier with Suzie's care of Julia and the loving/nurturing environment Suzie has created. I whole heartedly recommend Suzie Choobak to anyone in need of daycare.

I'm sure Suzie will show you all of her impressive work experience and credentials, so let me tell you what papers/numbers won't:

Suzie has a true passion and love for children and balances this with a lot of patience. I feel good knowing that if Julia wants to be held, Suzie is more than happy to do so. Or if Julia wants to participate in arts and crafts (but is a little young for it), Suzie finds something creative she can do.

When Julia was a baby, she had many problems with diaper rash, however, Julia never once had an outbreak while in Suzie's care! Suzie was able to determine how best Julia likes her milk (slightly warm and after/before naps) and shared this valuable information with me. Suzie is always so excited to tell me when Julia has a "first." Her first word, the first time Julia eats a new food, etc ... She shares Julia's milestones with the same joy and pride as I do.

Suzie listens to my needs as a parent and incorporates them into daycare setting when possible. For example, I wanted to use glass bottles, or have Julia wear a hat when she is outside. Suzie is not fazed by a nervous or cautious parent; she is supportive and assuring.

I feel that Julia is in a safe, loving, and fun environment.

Unlike a corporate run facility, with Suzie you can be assured that your child is watched after by the same person/people each day. Your child will be able to develop a strong and healthy relationship with Suzie as opposed to having to adjust and re-adjust to ever-changing staff. Unlike other family-care homes, Suzie does not have her own child that she is also caring for where her true motivation for daycare is to stay home with her own child and make money on the side. You do not have to worry that her child will come first or that the day will be built around the needs of her child.

In this past year Suzie has earned my trust and devotion (and continues to earn my trust and devotion). I am truly thankful to have her in Julia's life.

Sincerely,
